Dear Parent or Student,

Thank you for enquiring about the Weston School of Dance & Performing Arts. We have pleasure in detailing herein the work of the school and we hope that you will find something to interest you.

The school aims to cater for everyone. Children are accepted from the age of three years (provided that they are out of nappies), and we provide classes for all ages, including adults. Children can train in ballet, modern theatre dance, tap and, when they are a little older, commercial dance/jazz and musical theatre. Adults, too, can attend ballet and tap. The majority of our students want to dance for sheer pleasure, some will want to work towards examinations and others may want to make dancing their career. Whatever their aims we give them every encouragement to achieve them.

Dancing should be fun! Our first priority is that students enjoy themselves, safely and under the eye of experienced teachers. But dancing also provides other benefits: exercise and an improvement in posture and co-ordination; development of confidence and social skills; musical and artistic appreciation; the cultivation of imagination, to mention a just a few.

All of our teachers are either qualified with the Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing (ISTD), working towards their teaching qualifications, or are experienced professionals in their field. All are enthusiastic and work hard to ensure that a high standard of teaching is maintained at all levels.

The Weston School of Dance & Performing Arts is an ISTD Approved Dance Centre and, as such, is recognised as one of the foremost dance training establishments in Essex. The amount of interest and enthusiasm generated by our teachers and students means that it will continue to go from strength to strength. We hope you will join us.

Yours sincerely,

GEOFF WHEATLEY AND ELISABETH SWAN

To stay or not to stay?

Parents are not encouraged to stay in the studio with their children except when there may be difficulties in the first couple of weeks. However, we do invite family members to watch classes during the final week of each term.

Newsletter

Published at least once a term this is our way of keeping in touch with you.

This is an opportunity to relax with some light refreshment and talk to the partners and teachers, register for classes, purchase dancewear, and to generally meet us and see what we look like!

Uniform Sales

As well as being able to purchase dancewear at Open Day, the school's dancewear uniform (not compulsory for pre-school children or adults) is on sale at selected venues over the first two weeks of term. Additionally, you can order and pay for uniform via our secure e-commerce portal on our website or, alternatively, request an order form from your teacher and obtain your requirements via the school office.

Peace of Mind

The school carries a comprehensive insurance, protecting students whilst taking part in classes. This does not, however, extend to personal property.

The school office is open every weekday morning between 10.00 am and 1.00 pm during term time so you can be sure to be able to speak to someone personally between those times. See back page for details.

Credit / Debit Cards

Payment by credit or debit card is accepted for most classes and examinations thus helping you spread the cost to suit your budget. Once your account is established you can also opt to pay by standing order.

Policy Statement

The school has a number of policies in place which have a bearing upon students and their families. These have been crafted for the safety and well-being of all involved. We expect parents and students to support teachers and other staff in achieving these aims. An abbreviated version of each of the Health and Safety Policy, Equal Opportunity and Non-Harassment Policy, Child Protection Policy and Complaints and Appeals procedure will be sent with your first term's invoice. Full versions may be viewed, by arrangement, at the school's office.

A SHORT HISTORY

1939 is a date which will remain in the memories of a great many people but, for a former dancer with the Paris Opéra, it had even greater meaning. For this was the year in which Joan Weston started her dancing school in Little Waltham Memorial Hall, a school which has developed and progressed over seventy years and which regularly sends students for professional training and onto a successful career in international cabaret, television and theatre. Joan trained with Stanislas Idzikowski, a former soloist with the Diaghilev Ballet Company who was himself trained by the Italian danseur, Enrico Cecchetti. It is the Cecchetti method of ballet which is still taught at the Weston School today, alongside tap, modern dance, jazz and musical theatre skills. Joan Weston went on to found the Chelmsford Ballet Company but retired from teaching in 1975. The school, which was housed for many years at The Manse in Chelmsford's New London Road, passed into the experienced hands of Wendy Watts who stood at the helm for twelve years.

The Weston School of Dancing began a new chapter on 1st September 1988 under the direction of Elisabeth Swan and her husband, Geoff Wheatley. Since then it has expanded to take in the Victoria Chappell School of Dancing in Great Dunmow, in March 1989, and four months later the Christina Ballard School of Dance in Ramsden Heath was taken under its wing.

Your Opportunities

In addition to regular classes, students are given a number of other opportunities to dance, should they wish to do more. NOTHING is compulsory although we do hope that children, with suitable encouragement from their teachers and parents, might like to fully explore all avenues.

Examinations

These are arranged under the auspices of the ISTD and children (and adults) are invited to enter only when their teacher considers them to be fully prepared - this can be between three and five terms, depending upon attendance, practice and commitment. Children are generally entered in groups and the examiner's aim is to make this an enjoyable experience. However, examinations are entirely optional and a child's progress through the school will not be hindered should he or she decline.

Prizegiving

The presentation of examination certificates, together with the school's own special trophies and certificates of merit, is made at our annual prizegiving. This is usually held prior to the start of the school year and is always a happy and popular event.

Choreography Competition

Students are given the opportunity to enter our choreography competition which is usually held prior to the beginning of the autumn term each year. The winners and runners up are then invited to perform their work at prizegiving, the following week.

Mufti-Week

During the week of, or prior to Children In Need, students are encouraged to dress up (or down) for their dance classes. A pound (£1) is charged for the privilege and this is donated to this worthwhile charity. Students are also encouraged to bring a friend to join in the fun.

School Show

This is a marvellous opportunity for students to dress up, slap on some make-up and put all that hard work into practice! Everyone is encouraged to take part, from the youngest three-year-old (who, after all, steals the show) to the most advanced student. Unlike a number of schools we mount a production every two years. This way the syllabus work receives less interruption thus ensuring high standards of technique are maintained and, by taking a whole term to learn the choreography and rehearse the dances, the end result is a polished and professional production of which everyone can be proud. Our last production, 'Where Bluebirds Fly' in July 2017, was highly acclaimed and we are already planning the 2019 extravaganza which will celebrate our 80th anniversary!

Chelmsford Ballet Company

Ballet students, working at Grade 3 level and above, are encouraged to audition for dancing membership of the city's own ballet company. A number of our students perform in the Company's annual production and, drawing on this experience, many go on to further training and a professional career in dance.

Other performing opportunities

The school is occasionally invited to provide students to take part in the productions of visiting professional companies. Those with whom we have danced include Vienna Festival Ballet and the European Ballet Company. Our dancers have also performed in Godspell, Sweeny Todd, The Wizard of Oz and, for over thirty-five years, the annual Christmas pantomime as part of the professional season at the Civic Theatre. More recently we have been invited to provide the dancers for the Jubilee Variety Show at the Chelmsford Civic Theatre, Bocking End Arts Theatre Pantomime, Snow White (2012), The Wizard of Oz (2013) and Cinderella (2014), in Braintree, and Chelmsford City Opera's productions of The Magic Flute (2013) and Opera's Eternal Women (2014).

Cecchetti Associates

The Cecchetti (classical ballet) Society holds three classes per term at the Rambert School for Dance in Twickenham for talented children, selected from throughout the UK. A number of children are put forward by the school for audition each year, which results in a high success rate.

Cecchetti Scholarships

These prestigious scholarships for weekly ballet classes in London are offered to talented students, age 11 plus, subject to audition.

Competitions

When appropriate, students are invited to take part in prestigious competitions such as the Cecchetti Classical Ballet Awards, the Star Tap Awards and the Janet Cram Awards (modern theatre dance).

Vocational Training

Students who want to make dancing their career are offered the relevant advice and opportunities regarding further training. The school has been fortunate to see former students proceed onto a successful career in international cabaret, television and theatre.

What to Do Now

Please read through the rest of this information booklet then study the enclosed timetable. Once you have decided on the class or classes for which you wish to enrol complete the enrolment form and return this to the school office. Your enrolment will be acknowledged.

Once a place becomes available you will be sent confirmation. You, or your child, will then be welcome to attend a free trial lesson and, provided that you wish to continue, we will send you an invoice for the balance of the term's fees which, for the first term, are afforded a 50% reduction. Please return your remittance to us within three weeks of receipt. If, however, after the trial lesson, you do not wish to continue with classes, you should telephone us immediately and an invoice will not be raised.

What to Wear

With the exception of "Pay-As-You-Go" and "Ballet with your Bear" classes all students are required to wear the School's uniform, details of which will be sent once your enrolment form has been received. However, we suggest that no purchase is made for the first two weeks. This will ensure that the student is going to settle before investing in such a purchase.

Students attending adult classes may wear any comfortable exercise clothing (no bare midriffs please). Ballet with your Bear class pupils are not expected to wear the uniform but may wear a full skirted dress or skirt and blouse for girls; boys should wear shorts and a tee-shirt.

Attendance

Dance, especially ballet, is a demanding art form. For this reason we require students and their parents to register for classes and encourage them to commit themselves to a minimum of one term. For ballet we recommend that each student over the age of seven years registers for a minimum of two classes per week.

Students are expected to arrive 10 minutes before the start of class. Parents are requested only to drop their children off as many of our halls do not have space for them to wait in reception areas. Any student arriving more than 15 minutes late will not be admitted to class. Students are encouraged not to leave the room once class has begun and time allowance should be made for appropriate rest room use prior to a class.

ABOUT BALLET

Ballet, using a strict dance technique which has evolved over the past five centuries, is united with music, decor and costume to create works of dramatic, lyric or pure dance interest. Strictly, the word ballet should relate only to works in the classic style but in recent years, with the increasing combination of classical ballet and freer contemporary techniques, it has come to be used to describe almost any theatrical dance arrangement.

Ballet traces its history from the Renaissance spectacles which combined music, singing, poetry, dancing and decoration - an amalgamation of all of the arts. From Italy it moved to France and found its popularity in the French courts, especially under Louis XIV. Then it entered the professional theatre and the dancing masters of the 18th Century gradually established it as entertainment in its own right. By the early 19th Century Blasis had codified technique and by the Romantic era ballet had arrived in much the form we know. Later, it flowered in Russia and was then revitalized in the West. By the middle of the 20th Century, what had initially been a diversion for the nobility had become popular worldwide.

* * * * *

The disciplinary training of Classical Ballet provides the student with improved posture and a control of mind and body beneficial to health, physique and artistic appreciation. With regular classes a child will develop his natural co-ordination of movement and musicality and will gain confidence in his own abilities which will be beneficial in everyday life. Students may commence their ballet training from the age of 3 years.

THE CECCHETTI METHOD

Several syllabi exist for the training of dancers: Royal Academy of Dancing (RAD), Imperial Ballet (ISTD), British Ballet Organisation (BBO) etc. The Weston School teaches the Cecchetti Method, a method of training developed by Enrico Cecchetti in the late 19th Century. Born in Italy in 1850, the son of two dancers, Cecchetti migrated to St. Petersburg where he joined the Imperial Russian Ballet and created the virtuoso role of the Bluebird and the mime role of Carabosse in the première of The Sleeping Beauty in 1890. He also taught many Maryinsky dancers including Pavlova, Karsarvina and Nijinsky.

In 1909 he joined Diaghilev's 'Ballet Russe' as a teacher and mime artist. He was recognised as the greatest teacher of his day and his pupils included Alicia Markova, Ninette de Valois, Marie Rambert and Léonide Massine. Cecchetti had trained under Lepri, a pupil of Blasis, whose ideas were developed further by Cecchetti who grouped the classical vocabulary into six sets of exercises, one for each day of the working week.

Cecchetti's work was recorded and published in 1922 by Cyril Beaumont who was instrumental in founding the Cecchetti Society for the preservation and promotion of the Maestro's work. In 1924 the Cecchetti Society became affiliated to the Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing.

The continuing importance and value of this method is summed up by one of today's leading ballerinas, Miss Darcey Bussell of the Royal Ballet, who has said " The Cecchetti work has given me strength, discipline and co-ordination. It wasn't until I got into the Company that I realised how lucky I was to have had that training".

The Cecchetti Society's syllabi of graded examinations for both children and vocational students are based on the principles of Cecchetti's teaching and is continually updated to remain relevant to today's student. This work will ensure that students will receive a sound training.

JAZZ DANCE

Jazz Dance was developed - like Jazz music - by the American Negroes, who took African dance techniques, based on the isolation of individually moving parts of the human body, and adapted them to the needs of their new social surroundings.

The name of Jazz first appeared around 1917. After this, during the 1920's, Jazz was eagerly taken up by the whites and since then has been introduced into the various forms of show business today.

Jazz now makes up the greatest percentage of commercial dance in television and show business, and therefore is vital in the training of the "all round performer". For the student who dances for pleasure, both children and adults alike, it is the best way to stretch and tone muscles, substantially improve co-ordination and improve those dance skills to the best of the latest music.

MODERN THEATRE DANCE

"Modern Dance is not so much a system or technique as an attitude towards dance."
Jack Anderson - Dance Critic New York Times

Modern dance styles of today began to develop in the early Twentieth Century as a reflection of Classical Ballet. Finding the technique of ballet very confining, many dancers broke away and began to develop their own styles of dance.

As a result of this we now have many variations on Modern Dance in this country, many complimentary to classical technique and some rather contradictory! However, the most important and successful style in the training and development of children is that of the Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing (ISTD).

The Modern Theatre Dance syllabus of the ISTD, including Tap Dance, is aimed at developing a child alongside a good Classical Ballet training. This systemised dance style gives enjoyment and fun to the dance student whilst relieving the child of the technical confines of Ballet. The principles of Modern Dance technique are developed at a young age, making Modern Theatre Dance the perfect compliment to Classical Ballet training. Students may commence training in Modern Theatre and Tap dancing from the age of 4½ years.

MUSICAL THEATRE

Musical Theatre is the coming together of a number of performing skills: singing, acting and dance. Watch any West End musical and there you have it - Musical Theatre. But whether the aim is to appear in Grease, or merely to enjoy the company of other like-minded people, Musical Theatre classes will develop confidence and improve self esteem which will help in all walks of life.

The Weston School's Musical Theatre classes are drama based. Students learn to work together, building characters and utilising expressions and mime; they learn stage craft and to use props; to act to music and to move, if not dance; they sing together, and on their own. They grow . . .

Students are accepted for Musical Theatre training from the age of 6 years.

COMMERCIAL DANCE

Commercial dance encompasses a myriad of styles. This can include Street, Jazz, Hip-Hop and Contemporary. It is the type of dance seen in music videos, on the catwalk and at fashion shows, artist tours, advertising campaigns, corporate events, TV and film etc. It is a great way of keeping fit and boosting self confidence whilst having fun!
